PUBLISHER'S LETTER

"Man has lost the capacity to foresee and to forestall. He will end by destroying the earth."
Albert Schweitzer, theologian, organist, philosopher and physician, from the opening of Rachel Carson's Silent Spring

Do you want your investments to have a positive impact on people and our planet? Are you tired of being sold unsustainable, irresponsible and unethical investment? Do you worry about the future you are creating for your family by what you invest in?

If you want to invest in a sustainable, responsible, impact or ethical fund, but don't know the full range of what's on offer, you are definitely reading the right guide.

Blue & Green Tomorrow's Guide to Sustainable Funds 2016 looks at 146 investment funds that purport to offer wider benefits – either to society, the environment or both – as well as generating a healthy financial return for you, the investor.

This time we rank them, so you know, who are the stars, and who are rather liberal in their use of greenwash.

Dinosaur investment, fund managers, advisers and investors – those who invest in fossils – are facing extinction

We confidently predict divestment from fossil fuels will become a rout due to unburnable carbon. We know the regulatory and political environment becomes harder for the energy intensive. We know the world is demanding more energy, more water and more food. It needs to be clean, efficient and sustainable, or 'we're all doomed.' There has never been a better time to investigate and invest in sustainable options.

Rising tides lift all boats – the inexorable rise of sustainable investment.

As the post-Silent Spring (1962) generation really comes of investment age, as they accumulate their own wealth or inherit their parents' wealth, as they use the power of social media and digital communications to understand and influence – they are demanding ever more from the advisers who advise them, the asset managers who run their money and the companies they invest in. More transparency, more corporate responsibility, more humanity, more sustainability.

Sustainable, responsible or ethical is on the rise. Excellent financial return statistics bust the age-old myth of underperformance by such funds.

Whether it's a themed fund – investing in clean energy, agriculture, forestry, water and so on; a negatively screened fund – avoiding harmful or unethical industries; or simply a fund that seeks to tackle key sustainability challenges, the Blue & Green/3D Investing list has something to match your criteria.

3D INVESTING STAR RATINGS EXPLAINED

What's the question that everyone wants to know? In my experience, it's which funds are the best? Clearly, the answer depends on an investor's personal circumstances, risk profile and so on, but it is possible to give a generic view based on objective, reasoned criteria. The 3D Star rating is our way of answering this question.

Without going into the minutiae of the rating methodology (which you can read at www.3dinvesting.com) we combine our assessment of social impact, exposure to ethical controversies, SRI capability, financial returns and transparency to come up with an overall score. This is represented by a star rating of 1-5.

3D Investing One Star

One Star funds are ones to avoid – funds that are so tiny they are in danger of being wound up; or funds containing stocks that totally undermine our confidence in the ethical integrity of the fund; or serial underperformers

3D Investing Two Star

Two Star funds may be worth considering, although they may have a poor financial track record, contain stocks that are likely to be of ethical concern or else have a low social impact.

3D Investing Three Star

Three star funds are definitely worth looking at. They may well rate as best in their sector, have a high SRI capability, or a relatively high social impact, but will also have weaknesses.

3D Investing Four Star

Four star funds are amongst the best 3D funds. They are likely to have a high social impact with limited ethical concerns. Thematic funds are well represented.

3D Investing Five Star

Five star funds are the real pioneers in the industry. They are required to demonstrate at least a fair financial performance, excellent transparency, a high social impact and a lack of exposure to ethically controversial companies. 🌱

WRITE FOR US

Whether anonymously, under a pseudonym, or with your name published loud and clear.

Journalism is changing rapidly through a digital and social media revolution. It is no longer the preserve of press barons and elite groups; journalism is now democratic and everyone has a voice.

And though that means there's a lot of noise and rubbish out there, there's a lot of great stuff too.

The role of media has changed. We still write stories every day about the amazing people and organisations that make a positive difference to the world in which we live, but we also promote and publish the most relevant blogs, tweets and articles from our readers.

We want to report on the diverse voices of our audience and beyond—regular people writing as travellers, investors and consumers.

So, if you blog, tweet or write about sustainability we want to hear from you. You don't need to be an experienced or aspiring writer or worry about article length, spelling or grammar—we'll tidy that up for you.

We can't publish everything, but if it's likely to resonate with our readers or challenge them in some way, you'll fly to the top of our list.
